Housing and community development professionals from all over New York are expected to descend on the Holiday Inn in Liverpool later this month for the Rural Housing Coalition’s annual training conference. Highlights of this year’s conference include information on creative strategies for financing the rehabilitation of homes occupied by lower income families through local hospitals. Yes, it’s a provision of the Affordable Care Act.

Other conference presentations will bring you up to date on policy issues such as efforts at the federal level to allow nonprofit insurers to provide more affordable property insurance coverage; an update on changes to operation of the Affordable Housing Program of the Federal Home Loan Bank of NY; and efforts to address utility billing abuses by ESCOs.

HUD’s New York Regional Administrator Lynne Patton will be the luncheon speaker on September 25th. State Senator Betty Little, Chair of the Senate Housing Committee, will speak at the luncheon on September 26th. The featured Keynote speaker is RuthAnn Norton, CEO of the Green and Healthy Homes Initiative.

In a late addition to the conference agenda, there will be a special policy discussion on the afternoon of September 24th. In this session attendees will learn more about proposed federal legislation on tax credit financing for single family housing.

Of special note on this year’s program is a pair of roundtable discussions on September 26th on issues related to mobile and manufactured housing across the state. New York’s manufactured housing stock represents the largest portfolio of affordable housing units in our rural communities, and the challenges of keeping this housing in decent repair are many. One of the roundtable sessions will focus on issues related to manufactured housing sited on individual lots, and will allow concerns related to repairing and improving the condition of those units to be discussed with policymakers.

The second workshop will focus on housing conditions found in manufactured home communities, often referred to as mobile home parks. These units fall into a real estate never never land, combining the responsibilities of ownership with the limitations of tenancy, and few of the benefits of either form of tenure. This session will allow brainstorming around the challenges of housing conditions in parks, including some new initiatives being put forth by state agencies.

The Liverpool Holiday Inn offers a much larger meeting facility than we have been used to for the last four years, meaning that we can offer a broader array of training workshops at one time. Please review the conference program on our website or at the Constant Contact link below, and you are sure to find useful workshops for many on your staff.

Conference registration is taking place online at http://events.constantcontact.com/register/event?llr=87dbwfab&oecd=a07e1ftrzvff f99466. Hotel reservations should be booked before September 8th to secure the special conference room rate. Call the hotel at (315)457-1122 and use the code NHC to reserve your room.

Conference Track Focuses On Housing Rehab Practices

One of the most stressful jobs in the housing industry is the position of housing rehab coordinator for agencies that operate owner-occupied home improvement programs. A full training track specifically designed to help rehab coordinators do their jobs better, more efficiently, while taking less of a toll on their health and well-being has been organized for the upcoming annual Affordable Housing and Community Development Conference in Liverpool. The track includes varied workshops including how to reduce resubmission requests for Tier 2 environmental reviews, and stress relief techniques. Have your rehab coordinator sign up for the conference at http://events.constantcontact.com/register/event?llr=87dbwfab&oeidk=a07efltwrxwff99466.

Op Ed On Redlining In NYT

The New York Times published an Op-Ed by National Community Reinvestment Coalition CEO Jesse Van Tol on August 28th about proposed CRA enforcement changes that could increase redlining in the housing market. The article is found at www.nytimes.com/2018/08/28/opinion/trump-mortgage-redlining-cra.html?mc_cid=d82c25a96b&mc_eid=d07b351d0e. (See related article on Page 6)
The Senate voted 92-6 on August 1st to approve its FY19 Transportation-HUD (THUD) spending bill, which provides robust funding for affordable housing and community development programs. Overall, the bill provides HUD programs with more than $12 billion above the president’s FY19 request and more than $1 billion above the House bill.

Several amendments impacting federal affordable housing programs were added to the Senate spending bill, including:

- An amendment introduced by Senator Jeanne Shaheen that would direct HUD to ensure landlords cannot unlawfully evict or deny housing to people based on their status as survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault.
- An amendment introduced by Senator Gary Peters that requires HUD and the Environmental Protection Agency to report on efforts related to the removal of lead-based paint and other hazardous materials.
- An amendment introduced by Senator Dean Heller that would prohibit people charged with certain crimes from receiving housing assistance. The National Low Income Housing Coalition has concerns about how this provision would be implemented.

USDA Issues Proposed Rule On Assets, Loan Limits, Income Banding

On August 31st USDA Rural Development published a Proposed Rule in the Federal Register seeking comments on proposed changes to the regulations for single family home financing. The Rural Housing Service is proposing to amend its regulations for the direct and guaranteed single family housing loan and grant programs. The changes include:

- Revising the definition of very low-, low-, and moderate-income to allow for a two-tier income limit structure (also known as income banding) within the single family housing direct loan and grant programs.
- Clarifying that net family assets are not considered when calculating repayment income, and that net family assets exclude amounts in voluntary retirement accounts, tax advantaged college, health, or medical savings or spending accounts, and other amounts deemed by the Agency not to constitute net family assets.
- Revising the methodology used to determine the area loan limits to use a percentage(s), as determined by the Agency, of the applicable local HUD section 203(b) limit.
- As a result of income banding, converting borrowers currently receiving payment assistance method 1 to payment assistance method 2 should they receive a subsequent loan.
- Revising the definition of low-income to allow for the two-tier income limit structure (income banding) within the single family housing guaranteed loan program.

Rent Relief Act Introduced In Congress

Representative Scott Peters, co-chair of the New Democrat Coalition Housing Task Force in Congress, recently introduced in the House HR 6671, the “Rent Relief Act of 2018,” to provide cost-burdened renters with a refundable tax credit. The bill is the House companion to legislation introduced in the Senate by Senator Kamala Harris in July.

The bill aims to reduce the rent burden on low income renters by creating a refundable tax credit for individuals who live in rental housing and who pay more than 30% of their gross income for the taxable year on their rent and utilities. Individuals living in government-subsidized rental housing would claim the value of one month’s rent as a refundable tax credit. This bill will reduce the cost burden on low income renters and allow individuals and families additional money to be spent on healthcare, education, child care, and other needs.

Representative Peters, who represents San Diego, explained that the bill is necessary “to provide short-term relief for renters, while local, state and federal governments work toward long-term solutions to our nation’s housing shortage.”

Congressional interest in a renters’ tax credit continues to grow. In addition to the legislation from Senator Harris and Representative Peters, proposals for a renters’ tax credit have been introduced by Senator Cory Booker and Representative Joe Crowley.

HOME Program Guidance Issued For Homeownership Programs

HUD’s Office of Affordable Housing Programs (OAHP) issued Notice CPD 18-09 last month, providing guidance to jurisdictions about the homebuyer program requirements of the Home Investment Partnerships Program (HOME). The Notice describes the requirements that must be met concerning individual homebuyers.

HOME Participating Jurisdictions must implement the requirements for all homebuyers receiving HOME assistance or purchasing a home developed with HOME funds. The Notice is intended help PJs develop written policies and procedures for homebuyer projects and programs related to homebuyer underwriting standards, responsible lending standards, and standards for refinancing and subordination of a HOME loan.

The Notice also addresses the requirement that all HOME-assisted homebuyers must receive housing counseling provided by a HUD-approved counselor and housing counseling agency. In addition, it provides guidance on the requirements applicable to PJs that provide HOME homeownership assistance through lenders that also provide the primary mortgage.

The purpose of these requirements is to maximize the likelihood that homebuyers assisted with HOME funds will successfully sustain homeownership. Comprehensive homebuyer policies are intended to protect HOME investments by mitigating many of the risks that result from deficient underwriting and risky mortgage loan features. Adequate standards also provide certain protections for the low income households served and ensure that they receive equitable treatment. Without prudent underwriting, borrowers may not be able to afford the expenses involved in homeownership while still meeting their other financial demands. Expensive and risky mortgage products can hinder a borrower’s ability to repay the mortgage, increasing the risk of default and foreclosure.

EOE
OCC Seeks CRA Comments

The Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC) released an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking on August 28th seeking comment on the best ways to modernize the regulatory framework implementing the Community Reinvestment Act (CRA).

“As a long-time banker, I have seen firsthand the benefit of CRA investment and how it makes communities vibrant. I applaud the effort of community development practitioners and bankers who work together to make an important difference in our nation’s neighborhoods,” said Comptroller of the Currency Joseph M. Otting. “I have also seen how limitations in the current CRA regulation can fail to provide consideration to a bank that wants to lend and invest in a community with a need for capital, including many low- and moderate-income areas. Unfortunately, the operation of the current CRA regulation can result in restricted resources. It is time for a national discussion on how we can make the CRA work better.”

The OCC seeks stakeholder comment on ways to modernize the regulations that implement the CRA, in order to better achieve the statute’s original purpose, increase lending and investment where it is needed most, and reduce the burden associated with reporting and assessing CRA performance.

“We are issuing today’s ANPR to provide an open opportunity for all stakeholders to provide their comments on how to improve our approach to the CRA so that insured depository institutions continue to meet the credit needs of their communities, including those in LMI neighborhoods, consistent with the safe and sound operation of these institutions,” the Comptroller said. Comments received regarding this ANPR may inform the development of more specific policy proposals or future rulemakings. The deadline for submission of comments on the proposed changes is about November 10th. The notice of the proposed rule is found at www.occ.treas.gov/news-issuances/news-releases/2018/nr-occ-2018-87a.pdf.
